

SOFT CLAY UNDER COAL INQUIRY

Harriman's Engineer Says Concrete Piles Will Probably Have to Be Sunk.

WILL DRILL TEST HOLES

PLANS FOR STATION HAVE BEEN ENLARGED AGAIN.

The proposed $1,000,000 passenger station to be erected here for the Short Line and Salt Lake Route will in all probability stand as a monument to the engineering skill of the Harriman system of railroads, spent yesterday examining the site for the new station and last night made the above announcement regarding the foundations for the building.

"From all indications we will encounter a moist clay to a great depth under the surface of the ground upon which the new station will be erected," said the big engineer in his private car last night. "I have ordered that test holes be sunk as far as possible to determine on just what we may expect, but I am satisfied that we will have to drive some very heavy piles for the foundation to rest upon. This will increase the cost of construction somewhat, but it will have to be done. I have not as yet determined upon the foundation construction material and will not until I know the results of the test holes. This should be in a very few days."

Two Tunnels.

Two big tunnels are to be built leading from the passenger station to the freight depot on the other side of the yards, instead of but one, as first announced.

"We find that we shall have to have one tunnel for the handling of freight matter alone and another for the exclusive use of express," said Mr. Isaacs. "The two tubes will, of course, parallel each other and will be about the same size, the baggage tunnel possibly being larger. While there has been no change in the general plan of the new station, the specifications have been enlarged in their scope a great deal the last few days, and Salt Lake will get a bigger station than was at first planned. The changes in the plans are mostly of a technical nature, but at the same time they are of great importance. The new station will be much more roomy than was at first intended. The steam shovel is now doing surface excavating and when this is completed the real excavation work for the building will start. The tunnel work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. Both tunnels will cross the yards far below the railroad tracks. We have worked out a scheme whereby these two tubes will be built on the same level and ventilated when they are completed."

PARK CITY CELEBRATES

Big Labor Demonstration at Utah Silver Camp on Labor Day.

(Special to The Herald.) Park City, Sept. 2.—One of the biggest celebrations ever held in the camp was held for Labor Day. Long before time for the parade the streets were crowded with people, old and young, anxiously awaiting the commencement of the sports.

At 9:30 a. m. the parade formed and marched down Main street and up Park avenue and down Main street again to the band stand, where the speaking took place. The fire department, the standard bearers, Harry West, Park City Military band, the city officers, members of the Miners' Union, small boys and girls, and the "Hoot, Hoot" band constituted the parade. At 10:15 a. m. Joseph P. Langford in a short address introduced Mother Jones, the speaker of the day. Mother Jones made a lengthy speech on "The Rights of the Laboring Classes." Immediately after the speaking the sports began and many prizes were awarded, among the winners being:

Fifty-yard race for boys under 10 years, Leo Girard; 40-yard race, boys 10-12 years, Edward Hartwell; 60-yard race for boys 13-18 years, Will Deason; 40-yards, for girls under 10 years, Grace Lowry; 40-yards for girls, 10-12 years, Merle Stringer; 20-yard egg and spoon race for girls, Lena Gotsch; 40-yards egg and spoon race, Will Horn; 100-yard men's race, 40 years and upward, Mr. Gidley; 50-yard race, young ladies, 16 years and upward, Florence Smith; running broad jump, Bernard Woods; standing jump, Bernard Woods; boys' wheelbarrow race, Mike Olinier; boys' sack race, Fraser Buck.

COAL INQUIRY STARTS TODAY

Commercial Club Officials Will Ask Operators to Explain the High Prices.

DENVER IS UP IN ARMS

THOUGH PRICE THERE IS ONLY $5 A TON.

The board of governors of the Commercial club will this noon ask the mine operators of the Utah and Wyoming coal fields if the increase in wages paid their men this year justifies a raise in the price of coal in Salt Lake of $1 a ton.

The governors are in doubt as to the propriety, putting it mildly, of the increase in coal prices to Salt Lake, and the operators have declared they show where the increase was absolutely necessary. The club men want to go into the whole question of coal prices here this year and for the past four or five years, and determine the causes for the steady advance in the price of the fuel. The meeting was to have been held yesterday, but was postponed on account of it being Labor day.

The dissatisfaction with coal prices is not confined to Salt Lake, as is evidenced by the Denver newspapers. Coal has been raised from $4.75 to $5 a ton in Denver, and even this price, which is $1 and $1.50 less than Salt Lake's, is being called for by bitter complaints against a coal trust in the Colorado capital. The Denver Post, which is making a hard fight on the increase in coal prices, has gone into the retail coal business, and is selling coal in Denver at $3.75 a ton, against the charge of $5 a ton made by the other dealers of that city.

BACK FROM TOURING TRIP

Judge O. W. Powers and His Party Return After Making Journey Through East in Automobile.

After going half way across the continent and back again in a big touring car, Judge and Mrs. O. W. Powers, their son, Roger, and a friend of Mrs. Powers who is to visit here, returned to Salt Lake last night.

The trip was a record breaker for a general good time and as a means of seeing the best of the country under all sorts of circumstances, according to Judge Powers. The party left here in July reaching Peoria, Ill., July 23. The start in the automobile was made from Peoria on that date, the party going through Michigan. From Michigan points the car was driven through to Buffalo. After visiting various points in New York state, including Palmyra, the trip homeward was made through Pennsylvania and Ohio into Illinois, a few days' stop being made at Peoria again. Carthage, Mo., and Dallas were visited, the party taking a Mississippi river boat at the latter place and going to Burlington, Ia. Nebraska and Wyoming were then toured, the last stopping place being near Evanston, Wyo.

On the trip from Evanston to Ogden Judge Powers' machine broke down and the journey was completed by rail. The Judge and all the members of his party are in excellent health.

GASOLINE TANK EXPLODES.

Causes Lively Blaze in Tom Botterill's Garage.

The explosion of a gasoline tank in the automobile garage of Tom Botterill at 62 West Third South street, shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday morning, caused much excitement. The place caught fire and was damaged to the extent of $1,500 before the blaze was extinguished. A tank with gasoline was filling a car when the explosion occurred. The oil was fired by coming in contact with a heated pipe and the explosion resulted. Fortunately, the employee escaped uninjured. Several machines caught fire and were not irreparably damaged. The firemen went a block out of their way to the wrong number, but made up for lost time when they reached the fire, which was extinguished in half an hour.

Mrs. Dewey was the wife of the late Albert Dewey, who was killed in a mine here and who died four years ago. After his death she removed to Gray, Ida., where she has since resided. She was born in England, Sept. 2, 1824, and came to this country in 1850.

She is survived by two daughters and two sons. Her son, Mr. Salt Lake, and Theodore and Albert Dewey, also of Gray. All will be present at the funeral.

CHURCH TO LOSE POPULAR PASTOR

Dr. Benjamin Young Is Transferred to Oregon by Utah Methodist Conference.

SUCCEEDED BY REV. SHORT

MINISTER AND CONGREGATION DEEPLY AFFECTED.

With the close of the Utah conference of Methodist clergymen comes the announcement that Dr. Benjamin Young, for nearly four years the pastor of the First Methodist church of this city, is transferred to the Oregon district. The transfer was announced at noon yesterday, just before the conference closed. It was entirely unexpected, both by Mr. Young and his congregation.

The scene when the announcement was made was affecting. In spite of the fact that the post given to Mr. Young is one of the most important in the northwest and that the transfer is a signal mark of recognition of the ability of the clergyman, he could scarcely keep back the tears when he learned that he was to leave the people with whom he had worked for four years and among whom he had many warm friends. The sorrow of his congregation was so great that it almost reached the verge of a protest against this action of Bishop Neeley, who made the transfer.

Rev. Mr. Young's successor will be the Rev. F. B. Short, of Portland, who comes with the recommendation of all of the clergymen of the Oregon conference. His ability as a preacher and organizer has won for him more than local fame. The Rev. Mr. Young will take charge of one of the largest churches in Portland. The change will be made not later than Oct. 15.

Came Here From Denver.

Rev. Benjamin Young came to Salt Lake from the Asbury church in Denver. Before going to Denver he was pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Cheyenne. Dr. Young is a western boy, born and reared in Wyoming. He was graduated from the University of Wyoming and the Grant university of Chattanooga. His first posts were in the southern states, after which he was assigned to Cheyenne.

While pastor of the First church at Cheyenne Mr. Young was made chaplain of the Wyoming state senate and had in his congregation many of the leading politicians of the state. While at Cheyenne Dr. Young succeeded in raising the $10,000 debt which was on the church. His removal to Denver by Bishop Walden caused much disappointment to his Wyoming friends. In Denver the congregation of the Asbury church, guided by Dr. Young, paid off a $20,000 mortgage on the church during his stay there.

Since coming to Salt Lake, Rev. Mr. Young has devoted his energies to the erection of a more suitable place of worship for his parishioners. The value of the property held by the church was $47,000. The church property now owned by the First Methodist congregation is worth over $90,000, and there is only $15,000 indebtedness against it. In addition to the financial gain the congregation is much larger numerically than ever before. It is said that the First Methodist Episcopal church has the largest following of any church in the city.

Dr. Young last night gave out the following statement:

Regrets to Leave Salt Lake.

"It is with keen regret that I leave Salt Lake City and it is only because of the greater opportunities to be found in a larger field of work and because of the request of the church authorities that I do so. An important position has been offered me, and I feel that a larger congregation and a broader field of endeavor, I feel, give me the opportunity for increased usefulness and I cannot well do otherwise than accept the post."

An employee of the congregation is composed of intelligent, earnest and lovable men and women. They have been kind enough to express their sorrow at my leaving and I can assure them that it is not without a great strain on the heartstrings of my wife and myself that we depart from this group of men and women who have proven themselves true friends and hearty co-workers in the effort we have made to become better Christians."

Among the women of the church there were none who have taken a more active part in the church work than Mrs. Young. She is associated with all of the church organizations and has done much of the practical work connected with them. The announcement of the transfer of Rev. Mr. Young has caused quite as much sorrow because of the fact that it will take Mrs. Young from the city as it does because it deprives the First Methodist church of an able pastor.

Other Important Changes.

In addition to the transfer of Mr. Young, another important change was made which will be of much interest to the people of Ogden. Rev. Guy W. McCreery has been assigned to the

HIGH PRICES PUT KIBOSH UPON THE WINTER PRESERVE

Home Menu Will Not Have Usual Delicacy Unless Fruit Costs Less — Prominent Women Air Views of the Food Trust.

Preserving and pickling time, so dear to the nostrils of the youngsters and so much a part of the life of every household as to be a real essential in the year's work, is about to be relegated to the background locally. And this is not because the housewives have lost their ability in culinary arts, nor is it because of any lack of desire on the part of the masculine element for good things "like mothers used to make." It is because the high price of fruit is making preserving almost an impossibility.

The housewives, on whom falls the task of feeding families, either large or small, in this time of stress in market matters, finds that to buy fruit by the pound for preserving in sufficient quantities for a family of any size is a luxury not to be lightly undertaken. It has been found to be cheaper to send to some of the big packing companies of either Colorado or the coast to import their best grades of fruit, than to buy fruit by the pound in the local markets for preserving.

Can't Market Pears.

Another significant fact noted by housekeepers is that while the orchards, lying as nearby as between town and the mouth of the Cottonwoods, are bending under loads of pears which cannot be marketed, the retailers will not pay the farmers sufficient for their packing and shipping, the public is paying the same price for pears in the local market.

The woman who has spent the summer or a part of the summer in the east comes back to be paralyzed anew with the increase in the prices of everything and from many of the states of the west come schedules of prices showing that the local price is in many cases double that paid in other places.

Some Pertinent Opinions.

Some opinions of the housewives are given below. Mrs. Windsor V. Rice—"There must, of course, be some reason for this unheard of change which is certainly making prices all over the country. I found while I was in New York this summer that prices had gone up enormously in the past few years, but in no instance did I find them pastor of the First Methodist church of Ogden to succeed Rev. David W. Crane, who goes to Honolulu to take charge of the church in that city. Rev. McCreery comes from Rawlins, Wyo., where he has been pastor of a Methodist church for some years. He is a young man, a graduate of the University of Denver and of the University of Boston. He is considered an excellent clergyman and eloquent orator.

Mrs. McCreery will be a welcome addition to Ogden social circles. She is the daughter of Governor Richards of Wyoming, who for four years has been in charge of the United States land office in Wyoming.

The other changes announced by the conference are:

C. J. Michaelson will succeed H. I. Hansen at Brigham and R. E. Gilpin at Corrin and Tremont.

B. E. Gilpin succeeds Charles H. Lewis at Bingham.

Samuel Allison succeeds J. J. Danks at Eureka and Silver City.

J. S. Anderson succeeds W. K. Donlin at Moquist and Ophir.

R. M. Craven succeeds R. J. Clark at Park City.

T. B. Scott succeeds Samuel Allison at Payson and Santaquero.

UNION MEN

Let us congratulate you on the showing you made yesterday. Not alone as to numbers, but for many other reasons. May your next year's celebration be as much better than this one as this was better than the one a year ago. May you be prosperous and contented. There are other things we wish to see you have. The most important of these is to have your own home. There is no good excuse for your not doing so. On our just rent plan you can become a home owner as easy as "falling off a log." Let us tell you about it. We have homes for those who want them, and if you are not in the want them class we miss our guess. Every married man would enjoy a home of his own. The problem has been how to get it. We have the solution. A little down, a little each month. The years soon roll around and the cottage is yours. Does it sound good? It is good. What better insurance for your family. What greater comfort in your reclining years. Make a start. Get something. In a few years if you want something a little more elaborate you can sell what you have at a profit and get something better. (That is, if you buy right, and we will help you to buy right.) Come in and let us shake hands with you.

BURGULARS LOOT TAILOR SHOP

Expensive Silks and Finished Suits Stolen From Geo. W. Putnam.

The tailoring establishment of George W. Putnam, 21 East First South street, was looted by burglars some time between Saturday evening and yesterday morning, and nearly $1,000 worth of goods stolen. Bolts of extra quality silk, fancy velvet patterns and several finished suits comprised the plunder secured by the robbers.

The burglary was discovered at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when Mr. Putnam went to the store. As he opened the front door he saw a bolt of cloth lying on the floor near the safe. On entering the rear room he saw his fancy linings and his finished clothing strewn about the floor. He started to check up and discovered a great deal of the more expensive goods had been stolen and about $300 worth of finished clothing, including several expensive suits just completed. Several detectives were detailed on the case.

When Mr. Putnam was last in his store Saturday evening at 5 o'clock everything was all right. The next day he did not visit the store at all. He had intended going to the establishment in the afternoon, but instead went for an automobile ride with Mayor Bransford. Consequently it is difficult to ascertain at just what time the burglary was committed.

Entrance to the store was made through an unused door to the building at 23 East First South street. The place had originally been a double store, but was made into one store to accommodate Mr. Putnam. The unused entrance was locked on the inside and the key left in the lock. The burglars apparently used a pair of key-hole nippers with which the key was turned. On leaving the thieves used the same door, locking it after them and taking the key away. The police have a good description of the stolen goods and are guarding against the disposition of it by the burglars.

MAY APPOINT SECRETARY

Manufacturers & Merchants' Association Has Vacancy to Fill—Will Consider Action of Realty Men.

The board of directors of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Chamber of Commerce. In all probability a secretary will be elected temporarily to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of C. O. Harris. Several local men have been mentioned for the position, but no indication has been given as to who will get the plum. It is generally believed that some temporary arrangement will be made until the M. & M. can see its way through the present fight that is being waged against the food combines of Salt Lake.

Aside from the election of a secretary, the directors will consider the refusal of the Real Estate men to act on their investigating committee and to consider the advisability of appropriating money toward the $10,000 anti-trust fund now being raised by the realtors.
